Discover The Versatility Of Flooring's Beauty

GreenHome Wood Flooring

Our story dates back to 20 years ago when we were manufacturing solid wood flooring. Years of concentration and perseverance paid off that we have gained more than just partnership, but more importantly customers' unanimous trust for our products and services.

Later, we have envisioned that engineered flooring will be playing a major role in the future industry. We seized that opportunity and have created a versatility of engineered flooring lines that are focused on design and innovation. Since our foundation, we have never ceased seeking changes and will retain the philosophy where we began.

INDOOR AIR QUALITY

GreenHome Innovation core wood flooring reaches zero formaldehyde emissions. Do you know?

The air inside your home can be more polluted than the air outside. Regardless of where you live, your home can have two to five more times pollution.

Current EPA/E0/E1 standard fixes the formaldehyde emission with 23 centigrade. It does not reflect the change when temperature increases. According to the latest public formaldehyde emission test of multi layer with 35 and 50 centigrade when floors installed with heating system, its formaldehyde emission exceed 58.3% even if it is EPA core. But glad to see, our OSB flooring get excellent performance of formaldehyde emission in this test which proves to bring healthier environment to your home.

FloorScore CERTIFIED

GreenHome was activated to do FloorScore certified in accordance with global environment standards. We are always confident with our new revolutionary Innovation core flooring for our specialization.
